day to appeal the ruling of a Philadelphia appeals court that upheld the injunction. But union lawyer Arthur J. Goldberg said he expected to file the formal appeal notice with the Supreme Court Friday and present a complete brief for the union ca by Monday This means the court probably won't be ready to rule until the middle of next week. The strike will go on at least until then unless something comes of new full-scale negotiations that resume today at Pittsburgh between the union and the big steel companies. The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said it was glad to hear that negotiations would resume. But it served notice on both sides that if nothing happened by Monday it would call them to Washington for a joint bargaining conference. The involved court action began nine days ago when President Eisenhower asked his government lawyers to get a Taft-Hartley injunction in Pittsburgh The court order would halt the strike for 80 days, but the union could resume it after that period if no settlement were reached. The union, believing the big steel firms are beginning to feel the financial pinch, attacked the injunction as unconstitutional. The Philadelphia court upheld the injunction, but gave the union six days to take the matter to the highest court. Half a million steelworkers are on strike against 96 companies and 250,000 more in related industries are out of work. The School Levies Must Pass

One of the most important issues facing local voters Tuesday is the school levy vote.

At stake are the 2.6-mill levy, which is a renewal, and the new 4.5mill levy which is needed to offset a deficit and to insure continued fulltime operations of the city's fine school system.

Both must pass. One without the other would be like trying to operate your automobile with gasoline but no oil. A breakdown would be the result.

And, in this instance the continued education of some 3,500 students in the Salem public school system would be affected.

The 2.6-mill levy renewal will continue to provide, as it has for the past five years, a part of the current operating expenses of the local schools. The 4.5-mill levy, since it is an emergency, would run for only two years.

Revenue it would provide will wipe out a $50,000 deficit which the Board of Education incurred in the first year's operation of the new Senior High School which the voters wisely built for the proper education of their boys and girls, and also meet increased costs of textbooks, supplies, building maintenance and teacher salary adjustments as required by the state.

Did Someone Have to Be First?

In the large picture of the steel industry, Kaiser Steel is too small to be of great consequence.

In the narrow picture of the 1959 deadlock over a new agreement between the steel industry and United Steelworkers, Kaiser Steel is still a minor influence. It was the smallest of the 12 companies that had been conducting joint negotiations with the union.

But Kaiser Steel, taken out of the whole picture and taken out of the negotiating group, could become very large if the separate negotiations it has begun can be carried through to a sound agreement with United Steel-

It would give the steel industry - employers and the union - a way to objectify their bargaining issues. This still had not been done when the presidential fact-finding board moved into the negotiations.

The board reported to President Eisenhower that the issues, though firmly established as the result of protracted bargaining, still had not been clearly defined. Kaiser Steel, having the advantage of being small and geographically remote from the central core of the steel industry, might be able to clarify both the problems and the answers that so far have baffled negotiators.

This is wishful thinking.

But it' safe to bet at this stage of the steel deadlock that all parties concerned are looking for a way out. Whatever irreconcilability was in steel management and steel unionists last summer has been burned out by this time. Wishful thinking is respectable, now that the long summer is yielding to the longer winter.

statesmanship at the expense of human welfare and national well-being. It represents failure, not success. And if a strike lasts a long time, it is like a war that lasts a long time; no one wins it. Everybody loses.

IF SOMEONE had to be first to show what could be done to terminate the losses of the 1959 steel strike, perhaps Kaiser Steel was the logical one to break away from the stalled negotiations of the major producers.

Kaiser Steel may not get anywhere either. could blame it for trying a new tack.

It has been a long, long time since last April 10, when the steel companies proposed that contracts be extended for another year minus cost-of-living changes and the Steelworkers Union presented a long list of proposals for a "package" to cost an undetermined amount of money. Someone had better make some progress soon.

Nation's Patience With Cuba Diminishes

the authorities in Havana. There is a well-defined belief that the Soviet government is in on some of the things the Castro government is doing to cause estrangement with the United States. For some time past Castro declined to receive the American ambassador, Philip Bonsal and the latter, after a lengthy conference recently with Washington officials. was finally instructed to do some frank talking to the Cuban revolutionary government. The unusual procedure was adopted whereby the Department of State made public in Washington the gist of the remarks which Ambassador Bonsal made to the Cuban government.

The official statement expressed "shock and amazement" over the charges of Fidel Castro that the United States government had somehow permitted the alle g e d "bombing" of Havana.

No evidence has been submitted by the Cuban government, says the State Department, that "the aircraft in question was armed, dropped bombs or strafed during its flight over Cuba."

THE UNITED STATES government also expressed serious concern over what it said seemed to be "deliberate and concerted efforts in Cuba to replace the traditional friendship between the Cuban and American people with distrust and hostility." This is about as strong a statement as has come from the Washington government in disapproval of the antics of the Castro leadership since the revolution succeeded in overthrowing the previous administration in Havana. It is the first officially expressed hint at the presence of Communist mischief-makers inside Cuba. The United States reiterated.

THE STATE Department's memorandum openly warned the Castro government of the menace of Communism and referred to the avowed purpose of the Communists "of imposing authoritarian rule and denying freedom of speech, religion and assembly." The American government also rebutted some loose statements made in Havana by Castro and his colleagues charging that the United States opposed "democratic ideals.' The Castro government was told it must not be misled "merely because the Communists made use of these as slogans to veil their true anti-democratic intentions." Some of the social and economic reference to the threats in the ernment unless they "affect the can naval base at Guantanamo might be abolished by order of the Cuban government. Altogether the situation between the United States and the Castro regime is gowing more and more disturbing right along. The Cuban revolution has influ-

'Moon Rhythms' In Fish

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Fish have "moon rhythms." Certain species, even at sea depths of 30 feet where moonlight barely reaches, respond to lunar phrases.

Dr. H. Friedrich of the Institute for Sea Study in Bremerhaven, Germany, said in New York that the responses, thus far little known, are found in up-and-down migrations, courtship behavior and the like. They have been unknown in the past because of the great difficulty in observing fish behavior under the seas. The conclusions reported were based chiefly on laboratory experiments.

The moon responses of birds may belong to the same order but presumably are of some benefit to the organisms, the German oceanographer said. Among the more recent findings of biologists is that many crea-

MOONLIGHT penetrating as far as 30 feet below the sea surface, he pointed out, is very dim indeed and probably could not be detected by man. The extreme sensitivity of various fish thus far is unexplained.

Some fish, Dr. Friedrick reported, apparently are injured by stronger light penetrating the water. Breathing rate, for example, can be greatly increased by radiation and heart beats slowed down, sometimes to the point of death. There is some indication that these effects are considerably increased by the presence in water of some as yet unknown fluorescing substance.

United School Official Cites Need for Levy

A new two-mill school levy will be balloted on Tuesday by voters in the United Local School Dis-

"The school needs the operating levy to meet current expens-Orlan Weingart, president of the Board of Education, said. We are asking for two mills for three years, and it is hoped that this levy will not be needed for a longer period of time," he added. The board has been faced with rising costs of items it furnishes to the students and an increase in the number of students enrolled.

The new levy will provide approximately $17,000 annually. Each child uses an average of more than five textbooks, which cost the board over $2.50 each, Weingart said. Over $4,000 was

Salem's First String Center Benched By Injury

Tom Dahms Breaks Thumb

Rest of Team Okay For Boardman Fray

Salem's Quakers will play the three remaining games on their football schedule without the services of first string offensive center Tom Dahms.

Dahms injured a thumb in practice Tuesday, and X-rays yesterday revealed a clean break. Coach Earle Bruce said the star center is through for the year.

The calm senior has been a steadying influence on the Quaker line this season. His ability to "hit out" after snapping the ball from center frequently helped to clear a path up the middle for the more publicized backfield men.

To replace his veteran center. Coach Bruce will call on Fred Flory, 133-pound sophomore. Not only is Flory much lighter than the 164-pound Dahms but he is several inches shorter.

THIS WILL NECESSITATE an adjustment by T-formation Quarterback Vince Horning in taking the snap from center. If the Flory-Horning combination doesn't click, Bruce can call on Jim Schuster, 173-pound junior, for the centering

Flory and Schuster are both capable centers. However, Dahms has so dominated the position that the underclassmen have seen most of their varsity action on defense. Dahms was a one-way performer, seeing only limited duty on de-

Flory is as hard - nosed and scrappy as any player on the squad. However, his lack of weight will put him at a disadvantage in trying to hit out on the defensive man over the middle. Schuster's added poundage may be needed.

At the other positions the Quakers appear to be in as good physical condition as they have been since opening game. A healthy Bob Lambert is ready to go full time, if needed, at offensive guard. Charlie Metcalf will probably give him relief on defense.

WEIGHTS OF THE starting lines tonight will be just about equal. They will average approximately 175 pounds per man. Salem will have a definite weight advantage in the backfield where their four men will average 169 pounds to *Boardman's 156

Salem's mentor evened his personal score with the Spartans two years ago when the Quakers whipped them 48-6.

In compiling a record of 2-4 this season, Boardman has averaged *10 points per game while their opponents have racked them for an average of 24.

Salem, thanks to five shutout victories in six games, has permitted an average of just over two points per game to be scored against them. Despite a scoreless performance against Ambridge, the Quakers are averaging almost 30 markers per game.

Michigan State Gambling On Sophomores In OSU Tilt

Ballman, Look Chief Threats

History Is On Side of Spartans

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)-Gambling on sophomores has started to pay off for Coach Duffy Daugherty, whose Michigan State squad clashes with Ohio State at Columbus Saturday.

After an uncertain start, the Spartans now look as if they have jelled into a football team.

A win over Michigan was sandwiched between losses to Texas A & M and Iowa. Then State beat Notre Dame 19-0 and Indiana 14-6. Michael Schuller REPUBLICAN FOR PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL

Michael Schuller is your Republican candidate for the office of President of Council. This position entails the scheduling of agenda for Council meetings, presiding over those meetings, and insuring that all legislation is properly before Council and is properly acted upon by Council. Obviously, this job calls for experience of two kinds. First, a thorough knowledge of how Council operates; and Second, experience in scheduling and conducting meetings of a committee

"Mike" Schuller has the necessary experience and know-how. He has previously served three terms on Council and knows the operation of that group. He is presently chairman of the Columbiana County industrial Safety Committee. He is presently serving his third term as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Onio Safety Council. He has previously served as chairman of the Metal Fabrication and Community Managers Sections of the All-Ohio Safety Congress.

In these capacities and on these bodies he has conducted committee hearings, investigations and panel discussions which required a knowledge of rules of order and procedural requirements. We cannot afford to ignore experience of this type in our city officials. Elect Michael Schuller President of Council November Nor even merely of pleasing and indulging one's palate," according to Paul A. Fine, psychologist and executive vice president of The Center for Research in Marketing Syracuse, N.Y.

"It is all of those things-but it is more. Eating is also a soical act, an act shot through with social meanings and relationships," he added thoughtfully.

He believes further that the social meaning of everything that goes into the preparation of food is important. Most people are happier with a meal that includes somefoods associated with their youth and their mother's kitches.
